ADVISORY BOARD

Every new year at Avon High School has been a year of fun, experience, and learning - experience through association with new classmates and new teachers; fun from sports, organizations, and even daily classes; and learning from the dedicated teachers. Although we look back fondly on our school days, we, the Seniors of 1962, realize that we must go forward to assume our responsibility as future Americans. And, with God's help, we shall roll on!

Appreciation

A good teacher is a friend as an instructor, and Miss Braden has been both during her first year at Avon High School. Among her students she is highly respected. As yearbook advisor, Miss Braden has spent many hours with the "Sonnet" staff, making Avon's first yearbook an outstanding one. Her efforts in helping the staff produce this yearbook can never be rewarded adequately. We express our deepest appreciation to the individual who has made our yearbook possible.

Dedication

Through our high school years her deep understanding of the students has won her the admiration of all. Her inspiring instruction, her generosity, and her quiet dignity have contributed much to the success of our class. She has shown more than a teacher's interest in her pupils, and is always willing to give a student time and advice. Because of these fine qualities, which we will always remember, we, the class of 1962, do hereby dedicate the first "Sonnet" to you, Mrs. Inez MacDonald.

STEPHEN E. HART
SUPERINTENDENT

Avon Public Schools
Avon, Massachusetts

To The Class Of 1962:-

The publication of this first issue of a new Yearbook series is a significant event in the ever lengthening list of achievements brought about by the united efforts of the administration, faculty and students of Avon High School.

That the Senior Class of 1962 should take the lead in this new endeavor is highly commendable.

Oftentimes, as the years go by, the memories of subject matter, teachers and student friendships fade as new events and new associations crowd out the old.

It is fitting then, that the Class of 1962 should seek to retain those memories, should strive to recapture the spirit of student days by creating this Yearbook which contains their record of individual and group achievements and the ever youthful faces of those with whom they shared their teenage years at Avon High School.

With best wishes to each and every one.
